ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to acknowledge and thank my study leader, Professor Anita Stuart, for her guidance and continued support and patience. This study was an enriching experience which contributed largely to my personal growth and development. I have learnt an incredible amount and am thankful for the opportunity that was granted to me.

My thanks to the library services of the Rand Afrikaans University and especially Lenette Venter for her assistance.

My thanks to Statcon of the Rand Afrikaans University for the statistical analysis. This dissertation could not have been done without their help.

My appreciation to the psychology students and my friends, whose participation and cooperation made this project possible.

My sincere thanks to my family members and beloved friends who endured my ‘obsession” for so long. Without these people around me, allowing me the time to be alone, this dissertation would not have been possible.

To my mother, who taught me about patience and who encouraged me every step of the way. Without her valuable lessons I would not be where I am today. Thank you for your love and unfaltering belief in me.

I would like to say a special thanks to my husband, Lindsay. Thank you for always believing in me and for your unconditional love. You have been my pillar of strength throughout my studying and my life and have helped me to keep going even when things were tough.

To my Heavenly Father, who granted me the opportunity to do this work and who gave me the courage to keep going even through some very difficult times.
