BIBLIOGRAPHY

Buijis, G., 2002. Rotating credit associations: their formation and use by poverty-stricken African women in Rhini Grahamstown. Eastern Cape: University of Zululand, Department of Development Studies and Anthropology

Chan, A.L.J., Why are most translators underpaid? A descriptive explanation using asymmetric information and a suggested solution from signalling theory. Translation Journal, April 2005, 9, 2-16

Fare Share, 2001. How the South African economy works. Western Cape: University of the Western Cape, School of government

GoSmallBiz, 1998. Sources of capital. USA: Xunhes

Grenfell, M., Overview of the market for micro lending in South Africa: Demand and supply, in Finance and Enterprise, March 1999

Hooker, M., 2005. Microstructure- Based predictors. USA: Advanced Research Centre

Karlan, S., 2001. Social capital and group banking. USA: MIT Department of Economics

Lane, C., undated. The rationality of rational expectations. USA: Academy of Sciences

Lowa Citizens For Community Improvement (CCI), 2006. Groups that change communities. USA: Lowa Central Assembly

Madden, J.R., 1999. Neighbourhood development strategies, application of the traditional lending model to investing in low-income neighbourhoods, Draft, Neighbourhood typologies project. Australia: Rural Industrial Research & Development Corporation

Mathie, A., 2001. Including the excluded: Lessons learned from the poverty targeting strategies used by micro finance providers. The Coady International Institute, St Francis Xavier University

ORIX Leasing Malaysia Berhad, undated. Products and services:Hire purchase. Malaysia

Parks, G., 2006. Selling certainty. USA: Advisor Today

Qua-Enoo, G.A., undated. Uplifting the informal entrepreneurs to mainstream business enterprises. Eastern Cape: Eastern Cape Technikon, Department of Accounting

Skinner, C., November 2000. Security livelihoods: A gendered analysis of support interventions available to street traders in the Durban metropolitan area. CSDS Research Report No. 34. School of Development Studies (Incorporating CSDS), University of Natal, Durban

Srinivas, H., undated. The mutuality of credit: Rotating savings and credit associations. USA: Calmeadow Research and Policy Unit

Teixeira, J., 2001-03. The South African banking sector and its vulnerability to systemic risk: A micro-indicator evaluation

U.S Library of Congress, undated. Social values and organisation. USA

